

PROJECT THRESHOLD PERSONNEL

File Information:

Name: Hannah Riker

DOB: 05/07/1989

Citizen Status: American

Department: Direct Contact Team: DIV-A

Rank: Captain

Team Assignment: Heads the Alaskan DCT;
9 years

Appearance:

Height: 5'7"

Weight: 135lbs 61 Kg

Build: Muscular and lean

Hand Dominance: Right

Hair: short lighter brown, straight

Eyes: Brown

Distinguishing Physical Characteristics:

Scars along her left leg from a fight with a bear. Scars on left forearm from a bite from an otherworldly porcupine like creature that escaped. Keeps her hair short.

Education:

High school and some college

Training:

Marines. Markswoman

Weapons: Carries a Marlin 1895—like her father; carries two Browning pistols.

Physical: Combat training, jiu jitsu, Krav Maga, knife fighting

Favored Weapons: Her Marlin rifle—she barely has to aim to hit what she's after

Skills:

Strengths: Self-reliant, strategist, pragmatist

Weaknesses: Avoids close relationships, single-minded

Languages: English, knows a couple of Native American languages

Background:

Reasons for Joining:

She grew up near Juno, Alaska. Father owned family land and did odd jobs along with hunting and fishing. Mom took jobs in Juno proper for part of the year. Sister Sarah is two years younger.

PROJECT THRESHOLD

PERSONNEL

She and dad went hunting when she was fourteen and ran into some thing out in the wilds. They got away from it, but it followed them back home. Dad shoved her and Sarah down in a floor cellar, but Dad and Mom were torn to pieces. After, Sarah and Hannah went to live with an aunt and uncle in San Francisco.

Hannah graduated high school, tried college at her aunt's insistence, but she dropped out and enlisted in the military.

She joined the Marines and learned everything she could about weapons and martial arts. She kept asking questions about monsters and ended up getting recruited by Project Threshold. She asked to work in Alaska. She ended up on a team with Neville and after two years, Hannah was promoted to running her own Direct Contact Team. She was sent McCoy and she picked Toddy because of his own marksman skills.

Hannah works for Threshold, but during her own time she hunts for the thing that killed her parents.

Hobbies: she's learning how to make bows and arrows. She likes bluegrass and Native American tribal music. She's got a taste for dark beers and she likes salmon.

Zodiac: Taurus

Family:

Robert Riker-deceased

Margaret Riker-deceased

Sarah Riker-lives in San Francisco. She's an accountant for a law firm. She won't step foot in Alaska to visit Hannah.

SO: She met Kurt Brodenstein on assignment in Alaska and hit it off. Kurt is much more sensitive and something about Alaska's energies started fraying at his nerves and he had a breakdown. He was reassigned to the States, but Hannah let him go. She still has her monster to find. They get along and Kurt, of all people, understands her obsession and need to find it. They stay in touch and occasionally he'll visit, but they are not officially in a relationship.

Aunt Kathy Baker and Uncle Paul Baker took care of them after the incident.

Psych Profile:

Abilities:

Hannah has a sixth sense about people, places and events. She can pick up on interdimensional occurrences and gets feelings about what to do next. She refuses to let a Cleanser help expand her abilities.

Last Psychological Evaluation:

7/1/22

Cleanser Interactions: Hannah refuses to let a Cleanser help her.

Details:

PROJECT THRESHOLD PERSONNEL

Hannah is basically stable though she has been reprimanded for running off on her own to hunt down monsters.

Recommendations: She's capable in the field and protects her own. However, she is under scrutiny for fear she will abandon her position if she finds her monster.