Background:

Talise grew up in the Iowa. Smart, but like most kids she didn't have a rich family for college, so she enlisted in order to get money for a degree. She liked the environment and stayed..

Growing up, she would sense things and occasionally hear things. She had several personal encounters. She kept it to herself, but had weird paranormal experiences—lived in a house she believed was haunted and was glad when they moved. She didn't like a stretch of river where she and her friends used to hang out and go swimming. One of her pals swam out and dunked down, but he never came up. They found him days
