PERSONNEL

Lake Iliamna while fishing. His body was never recovered, only fishing tackle along the shore. Neville has an uncle who was a private detective and after Maitlyn disappeared he started learning the business. He took a job for the National Parks Service for several years, hunting down lost hikers and travelers.

Reasons for joining:

Neville kept running into odd things out in the wild areas. Saw a giant bird fly overhead the size of a small plane. Also found strange tracks that didn't match anything known. Seen the Hairy Man several times. Was out looking for a missing pair of hunters when he ran across Riker and her group. They tracked them into a strange forest and only Riker and Neville made it out alive after tangling with strange faerie like beings. Riker convinced him to join PT and he's been by her side since. He keeps files on Lake Iliamna which has a long history of sightings of something big living in it. And disappearances.

Technically Neville is captain class, but he refuses to run his own team and will only work for Riker. Thus his promotion is on hold and he holds rank of sergeant.

Personal Traits: Loves coffee. Favorite food is salmon and most seafood. He likes camping and listening to the sounds of nature. Quick thinker and has a great memory for anything he's interested in. He makes his own jerky and likes caribou steaks. He's a healthy eater, liking fruits and vegetables more than meat. Toddy complains every time Neville loads up on vegetables.
