PROJECT THRESHOLD

PERSONNEL

He talks about two sasquatch encounters along the Tanana River while growing up. Neither threatened him or his brothers but they spotted one.

Toddy did not enjoy school and joined the army at 18. He served for six years and it became clear he had what it took to be a sniper. He earned a name for himself and went on recon and assignments in many places.

Reasons for joining:

While on assignment from Kodiak Station Toddy was sent out with a patrol to a nearby village reporting people disappearing and being harassed by something. They holed up in an abandoned cabin and Toddy witnessed several paranormal incidents.

Their cabin and one next to it were labeled condemned and burned. It seemed to stop the problems. However, Toddy kept asking questions and was reprimanded and told to forget it. He started looking into more incidents and ended up in trouble again, but it caught the attention of Project Threshold and he was recruited.

Personal Traits: Toddy is outgoing, friendly and will talk to anyone. He also cannot sit quietly for any length of time and asks whatever pops into his head without much thinking. He is good natured and loyal to a fault. Loves country music and cheap beers. Pizza is a food fit for any meal—mostly meat toppings. Toddy's not much for vegetables.
